

I vehemently believe the FCC should NOT implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law protections. Since this was enacted in Indiana I have enjoyed dinner time (and day time) without having to be subjected to between 1-10 calls a day/night from unwanted solicitors. I no longer have to look at my caller ID to see if it says "unknown" prior to answering it. With life being as busy and unsafe as it is now, having the Indiana Telephone Privacy Law has relieved at least one anxiety that I used to have, which in this day and age, anything to relieve even one anxiety means a lot!!! Please, please do not impair our State's ability to right a wrong. Thank you for consideration of my request. Susan Eldon
